StratLeade amplifies the impact of a global network of leaders to tackle sustainability challenges systemically. A growing community of change agents is tapping into its collective potential through educational support, development of leadership capabilities, incubation/acceleration of solutions. Together we are energizing the regenerative society.

ABOUT STRATLEADE

StratLeade is a non-profit organization founded by alumni from the Master's Program in Strategic Leadership towards Sustainability at Blekinge Institute of Technology, a pioneering systems-based sustainability graduate programme. StratLeade's activities support the development of sustainability leaders and educational programs across the globe. Our aim is to exponentially scale critical decision making built on principles of systems thinking, transformational change, and holistic sustainability. StratLeade currently represents a diverse network of over 600 leaders who understand the importance of and work towards representative participation in making decisions and creating solutions towards a regenerative society.

The question of reaching sustainability is not about if we will have the money or the technology to do it – those we have. The question is "will there be enough leaders in time?"
